Professor Chandrashekara M. Department of Studies in Library and Information Science, University of Mysore was invited as the President of the Celebration and Professor Maruthi T. R., Department of Studies in Law and University School of Law, University of Mysore was the Guest Speaker for the Program. Dr. M. Daniel, Chairman, Department of Studies in Philosophy, University of Mysore welcomed the members who came for the celebration. The Celebration Program invitation was extended to all the departments in the University and to the public.

The speaker gave insightful lecture on Ambedkar's life and his contribution in lifting the downtrodden people of India. It also included his contributions to the freedom movement of India and also his chief role as the maker of constitution for a post independent India. The resource person effectually put forth the struggles and difficulties faced by Ambedkar and his triumph over them, which is relevant for an individual person of this modern age. All the members actively participated in the lecture and inspired by it.
